To Whom it may concern.

As a strong supporter of Microsoft and the free Market system of the United States of America, I can't believe that in the year 2002, we still have 9 states still going after Microsoft. Don't these Attorney Generals have anything else to do with their time. Maybe they should try getting a life instead of making a career going after Microsoft. If I were the governor of the 9 Attorney Generals I would fire all of them for wasting the people's money. Maybe they should do their job and go after real criminals instead of protecting Microsoft's competitors like Sun Microsystems and that idiot Larry Ellison from Oracle who everytime you see him on TV bashes Microsoft. I would love to know maybe 5 or 10 years from now when these Attorneys leave office who the ex Attorney Generals work for or represent in their practices. Would it be a surprise or not to see them hook up with one of these Companies. Only time will tell. Maybe someone should watch them as hard as Microsoft's Competitors watch Microsoft when they leave office.

Sincerely
John Redgrave
